

TEXAS GENERAL LAND OFFICE PRIMARY SOURCE TEACHER WORKSHOP

BRINGING THE ARCHIVES AND RECORDS TO YOU!

Dear Educators:

Looking for a fresh, interesting, and meaningful professional development opportunity for Texas History teachers? Look no further than the Texas General Land Office Archives and Records.

This Primary Source Teacher Workshop focuses on standards-based content and strategies for introducing primary source documents and maps to students of all learning styles and abilities. And best of all, we'll come to you!

THE PRIMARY SOURCE TEACHER WORKSHOP FEATURES:

- ★ An overview of land and its impact on the history of Texas
- ★ Access to online database
- ★ Enhanced study of land history for students
- ★ Free workshop materials including hard copy and digital images of sample documents and maps from the collection – all connected to state standards
- ★ Hands-on primary source strategies and activities using documents and maps from the GLO Archives
- ★ Copies of all inclusive, TEKS-related lesson plans inspired by the Archives collection

WHAT'S IN THE GLO ARCHIVES?

- ★ The original land grants of Texas dating back to the Spanish and Mexican eras, the Texas Revolution, the Republic of Texas and Statehood
- ★ Letters and other correspondence from Stephen F. Austin, Sam Houston, defenders of the Alamo and Goliad, and other notables, as well as ordinary soldiers, sailors and settlers
- ★ The first draft of the Texas Constitution
- ★ The Registro: Stephen F. Austin's register of titles, and information about the Old Three Hundred
- ★ 80,000 maps, sketches and drawings from all over Texas
- ★ And much more!
